

Homework Hangout 2011-2012

Homework help is available for your child Monday through Thursday from 3:45-5:30 p.m.

Homework Hangout serves to provide students with the tools and support needed to excel in school. All staff work closely with the students to ensure completion of assignments and academic success. Please keep in mind that while we want to ensure the success of all children, we may not be able to accommodate one-on-one help at all times.

J-Care students who are enrolled in Homework Hangout will work on their homework before participating in other J-Care activities unless specified by their parents. Enrollment in a J-Care enrichment class overrides this policy.

All Homework Hangout staff members have tutoring experience and/or are majoring in Education or Social Welfare programs.

Homework Hangout Instructors:

- ❖ Amanda Hoskin (Coordinator): Amanda has been an influential part of creating and leading the Homework Hangout program for the past three years. In addition, she has worked as an advocate and as a Tiyul Counselor for three years in the Tucson JCC's summer camp program. She is currently a nursing/family studies major at the University of Arizona and has ample experience working as a tutor. Some of those experiences include teaching Spanish in a kindergarten class for two years, tutoring students in Spanish, working with children with disabilities and volunteering in General Pediatrics, Pediatric Emergency as well as General Emergency.
- ❖ Along with Amanda, many of our new and returning staff members will assist your children with homework help along with college volunteers.

Homework Hangout is offered free to all J-Care children, however it is required to have your child signed up in advance for this enrichment program.

The Homework Hangout sign-up sheet is attached.

The sign-up sheet must be turned in before your child attends this program.
